

Recently featured on Channel 2's "Greater Boston with Emily Rooney"

I REFUSED TO DIE:

Stories of Boston-Area Holocaust Survivors and Soldiers who Liberated the Concentration Camps of World War II
by Susie Davidson

Recipient, 2004 Massachusetts Cultural Council/Brookline Arts Commission grant

BOOK RELEASE EVENT: THURSDAY, MAY 5
HEBREW SENIORLIFE CENTER COMMUNITIES OF BROOKLINE
100 CENTRE ST.
6-8 P.M. • FREE • COMMUNITY ROOM

Featuring remarks by Buchenwald liberator medic and educator
WARREN EMERSON PRIEST
and Holocaust survivor / internationally renowned artist
SAMUEL BAK

Kosher refreshments, readings from survivors, soldiers and poets

"Susie's effort to document the story of these remarkable survivors and the brave soldiers who liberated the camps is to be supported and is greatly appreciated."

- Hillel Newman, Consul of Israel to New England

"Susie Davidson has done a remarkable job in capturing the depths of despair and the joys of salvation. The act of liberation will always be seared in the minds and hearts of those inside and outside the gates of the camps."

- Thomas G. Kelley,

Secretary, Mass. Dept. of Veterans' Services

"In this volume, Susie Davidson gives us the testimony of both survivors & liberators: encounters between those who had defied death & those who had risked death in the same cause, to preserve human freedom & human dignity."

- Michael E. Capuano, Member of Congress

"'I Refused to Die' provides Boston's Jewish community with a fitting testimony to mankind's darkest hour."

- Richard Ferrer, Editor of The Jewish Advocate

Ibbetson Street Press of Somerville, Publisher: 617-628-2313
ibbetsonpress@msn.com • Info: 617-566-7557 • Susie_d@yahoo.com • www.SusieD.com